

Print Tracker Enhances webAdmin 2.0 for “On-the-Go” Management

Dateline – Boise, Idaho, USA

In our mobile society, business leaders want remote access to imaging device information both for themselves and for their internet connected customers.

Enter the enhanced Print Tracker webAdmin.

“Busy executives and their customers want information at their fingertips, and more are asking for information without a software download,” said Print Tracker Sales and Marketing Director Brian Dawson.

“Tablets and smartphones are a big part of the ‘bring your own device’ (BYOD) revolution. Print Tracker has always embraced new technology and making information available to people using hand-held internet devices is a natural for us,” added Dawson.

Print Tracker webAdmin is a versatile tool. Credentialed users may view recent meters, see current device status and verify that supply orders have been placed. Print Tracker webAdmin works in conjunction with Print Tracker’s information gathering software, Print Tracker Pro.

In addition to quick information access, the Print Tracker webAdmin upgrade permits authorized administrators to view combined data from multiple customer installations, make changes to reporting schedules, update customer contact details, manage supply and service alerting and even prepare volume analysis reports.

Just like all Print Tracker products, webAdmin is easy and intuitive to use. webAdmin can be accessed via the built-in browser on mobile phones, tablets, laptops, workstations ... almost anything with internet access. Technicians can be standing at the service car and know what parts are needed for the next appointment. Salespeople can pull reports to show their customers’ fleet volumes over time. Administrators can update site settings and reporting frequency. And customers themselves can check to see their meters have been updated and their service needs are being met.
